

Brides' bulletin

All the latest from around the county

NEW AND IMPROVED

Carmela Weddings has re-launched with a brand new look, a new website and a new mission: to create individual, design-led, contemporary weddings for stylish, fashion-forward couples. Lisa and Sam are a husband and wife team who offer a fresh outtake on planning your day by making sure both male and female perspectives are taken into account.

With their backgrounds firmly rooted in entertainment and a decade of experience in event management, they combine their strengths and utilise their skills to create the big day you want. If you're looking to have a wedding without rules or formulas, these are the planners to go to.

Carmela Weddings provides services ranging from full and partial planning to on the day coordination and inspiration sessions to get you started.

See www.carmelaweddings.co.uk for more details.

IF MUSIC BE THE FOOD OF LOVE, PLAY ON!

Renowned Surrey singer and DJ Chanelle Aristide has launched a great new package for couples tying the knot in the area. The Ultimate Entertainment package provides day and night music which includes live sets during the wedding breakfast, evening reception and also a disco.

The 2016 addition to this package now includes an additional 30-minute live set during the evening buffet interval. The mellow/mid tempo songs sung by Chanelle provide guests with engaging entertainment while indulging in the evening cuisine; then resume back to the dancing and spinning of your favourite tunes as Chanelle concludes the night DJing.

For full details, visit www.chanellearistide.co.uk

Paws for thought

Royvon Dog Training and Dog Hotels, in Esher, Surrey, is offering a brilliant service enabling couples to have their pet pooch join them on their big day.

The centre often gets asked by clients to train dogs so that the beloved canine can attend their wedding and to take an active part in the proceedings.

If the thought of having your four-legged furry friend at your wedding doesn't fill you with joy, then Royvon also offer a trustworthy, luxurious doggy hotel for the big day and the honeymoon – the pup can even go through a training programme while staying.

Check out www.royvon.co.uk/location/surrey

On the radar

Bel & The Dragon boasts a range of elegant and boutique-style country inns in Southern England, in particular, the Godalming site in Surrey is beautiful and is becoming increasingly popular with brides- and grooms-to-be looking to say 'I do' in the area.

Nestled in Surrey's picturesque market town and just a short stroll from the River Wey, Bel & The Dragon Godalming is formerly a congregational church built in the 1800s, the building's striking architecture has been beautifully and sensitively restored to reflect its grand nature.

The restaurant, with its spectacular interior, now offers a flexible space for wedding receptions; The Mezzanine can also cater for up to 60 seated and 100 standing guests, while The Last Supper Table (on the mezzanine floor) hosts up to 16 seated loved ones as do the two new private dining areas.

Check out www.belandthedragon-godalming.co.uk